ANNUAL HARVEST Sale!

Plantland's BROWNIE YEW

Yews, or Taxus as they are called are considered the finest of evergreens. Of the many varieties of yew, Plantland's selection of TAXUS BROWNIE is an outstanding winner. A superb hybrid between the English and Japanese Yews. Very dense and thick growing with dark, waxy needles. Though it normally grows as wide as tall, it is easily sheared to almost any shape, size or form desired. A single annual clipping just before growth starts in the spring is all that is necessary. Foliage is fine and feathery. Excellent in the foundation planting, at entrances or corners, or in planter boxes. Yews make the "hedge supreme" and none excels our BROWNIE for this purpose. At our Harvest Sale price, you can now afford a yew hedge.

Dwarf Winged BURNING BUSH

The most colorful of shrubs in autumn and exceedingly choice year 'round. Winged, corky branches in horizontal formation makes an excellent winter silhouette. Scarlet berries add to the winter color. Hardy anywhere in U. S.

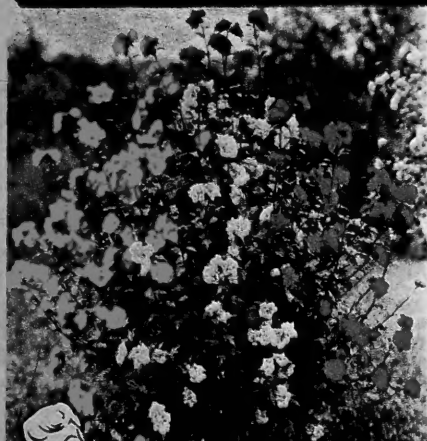

For long weeks in autumn the foliage is a dazzling scarlet, completely dominating the entire garden and even the entire neighborhood at a time of year when color is so needed and appreciated.

Because of slow, confined growth Dwarf BURNING BUSH may be used many places in the garden and landscape, particularly in the foundation planting. Superb for hedging and requires clipping only every other year!

WINTER EMERALD

(Euonymus sarcocoe)

This is one of the finest and most reliable broadleaf evergreen shrubs. Distinctly upright growing—more than picture indicates. Rich dark foliage is retained well through winter, even as far north as Chicago. Most useful in the foundation planting, in planter boxes, as entrance pieces or for planting against walls, where it will cling like a vine. Grows three times as fast as boxwood and is equally useful for hedging.

TAXUS (Yew) HEDGE

Yews, also called Taxus, are the choicest of evergreen shrubs. Dark waxy needles clothe these hardy evergreens all year.

Yews may be planted anywhere evergreen shrubs are desired. They transplant readily, will thrive in full sun or part shade. They thrive in most any soil, but do best under fertile conditions. About the only caution needed is to avoid wet pockets; yews need a well-drained soil.

Yews are ideal in the foundation planting. As a hedge, yews are priceless. The Dwarf Spreading Yew makes a broad, full hedge; the Hatfield Yew is more compact and upright-growing. The Brown Yew (front cover) is intermediate in habit. Please note our Harvest Sale quantity prices enable you to have a yew hedge at a modest figure! Year by year such a hedge becomes more luxuriant and precious.

Any of three yew varieties described, 3 yr. transplants 9-12 inches

★ HYBRID ELM

(Cross between Ulmus pumila and U. fulva)
Fastest Growing Tree in Temperate Zone

Grows like fury and provides abundant shade in a hurry. Tough and durable and withstands ice and storms. Highly resistant if not immune to the diseases that have plagued the American Elm. Trees on our grounds tower to 20 ft. in only 2 seasons! Casts abundant shade, but grass grows better beneath its spread than in the open. Where you want results in a hurry at modest cost, you can't beat this tree.

SILVER AND GREEN POPLAR

(Bolleana)

An unrivaled columnar tree for screening or accent. Reaches a height of 40 to 50 feet and in a hurry. Trees on our own nursery have shot to 30 feet in four growing seasons. Best of all this tree does not "playout" like the Lombardy Poplar. It is far superior in every respect—character, form, beauty and long life. Silver and Green has foliage that is bright green above; silver beneath. Smooth, silver-green bark is most attractive winter and summer. Tree forms a narrow shaft of shimmering foliage no more than 5 feet wide when the tree is 25 feet tall. For tall windbreak or screen, plant in a row 3 feet apart.

Our most handsome tree. Rapid in growth and not fussy as to planting location. Star-shaped leaves are unlike any other tree and no tree displays such a riot of autumnal colors. Growth columnar and stately yet branches spread enough to provide abundant shade. This is vital—our trees are grown from hardy Illinois parent stock—far superior and more reliable than the usual southern stock. Heavily branched trees growing in containers for perfect fall transplanting.

SPECIMEN TREES

Visitors to the nursery will enjoy inspecting our "tree orchards" where trees of all varieties and in sizes up to 6-inch caliper and 30 ft. in height may be selected. We deliver and plant these specimen trees within a radius of 75 miles.

Golden WEEPING WILLOW

(Salix)

The loveliest of all the weeping willows with its bright golden bark winter and summer and shimmering branch streamers cascading to the ground. Foliage a bright sparkling green above, silver beneath lends an enchanting, cooling effect as branchlets stir in breeze. We have found in our own plantings that the light "whips" we offer this fall, actually transplant better and rapidly overtake and surpass larger trees. You should stake these whips to encourage an upright growth.

BEECH

Dr. Wyman of Arnold Arboretum says of the Beech, "there is not a tree that will surpass it in year-round beauty." It is densely pyramidal in habit. Has rich, dense dark green foliage, turning golden-bronze in autumn. The smooth, light-gray bark becomes a winter landscape feature. Though the Beech is among the most handsome and desirable trees, it is rarely offered. The reason is, it is so deucedly hard to transplant. But with our sturdy little container-grown trees there is no "transplanting." They grow right off without disturbance.

CARDINAL SHRUB

(Weigela vaniciei)

This modest-growing shrub (grows to 6 ft.) is simply covered in May-June from top to bottom with hundreds of lovely cardinal-red, trumpet-shaped flowers, fully 1 to 1 1/4" across. Plants set out this fall WILL BLOOM NEXT SPRING. Use Cardinal Shrub anywhere. A hedge (plan 2 ft. apart) of Cardinals creates a stunning effect and our bonanza production enables you to plan lavishly.

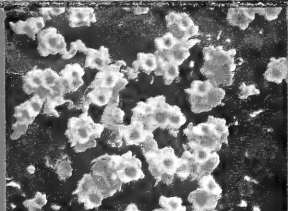

DAPHNE LILAC

Blooms in Spring and again in Fall. A unique Chinese shrub with graceful, slender stems. Mahogany-red buds opening to deliciously fragrant pastel pink flowers produce an unusual two-tone effect. Unlike regular Lilac, the flowers are produced all the way down the branches forming a large bouquet accented by green leaves. Seldom grows over 5 ft.

Catalog No. S 24

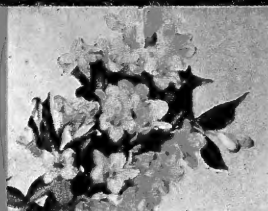

FLOWERING SHRUBS

Fragrant MOCKORANGE

Most deliciously fragrant of all the Mockoranges, and one of the hardiest varieties. A good robust grower that thrives even in dry, clay soils. Extensively planted about college buildings because blooming is at peak about commencement time and no shrub provides such a dazzling show and fragrance at this time. Equally useful and desirable in the modern home planting.

(Salix purpurea nana)

Discovered north of the Arctic Circle, so you know it's hardy! And will grow in wet and heavy soils where other plants perish. A real charmer, with lovely, dense feathery foliage of sparkling blue cast. Can be clipped for formal effect or left natural as desired. Natural height is 3 to 5 ft., but may be clipped and held as small as 12 inches high and 12 inches wide. May also be grown as single specimens in foreground of shrub border or for color contrast in foundation planting. For hedge plant a foot apart.

Catalog No. H 13

This is the best yellow-leaved shrub for northern gardens. A hybrid originated in the garden of Vicary Gibbs of Aldenham, England.

While many golden-foliaged forms revert or become unsightly at certain times of the year, Golden Vicary retains its warm golden foliage early spring until late fall. Indeed, the colorful foliage often persists until Christmas! Dwarf in character and seldom requires trimming even as a low hedge. Use Vicary to add a warm spot of color in the foundation planting or other strategic garden spots.

Catalog No. H 3

STATE CERTIFIED PLANTS

All of our plants have been inspected by an entomologist from the State Department of Agriculture and are certified free of pest and disease.

(Ulmus parvifolia)

Rare, rapid-forming and handsome!

Large, rapid-forming and Randomly Branched—The variegated Parvifolia is an exceptionally fine tree but it has been so scarce as to be virtually unobtainable. We first became acquainted with the merits of Parvifolia from some handsome specimens at the Missouri Botanical Gardens. With some effort we succeeded in propagating the plant and after growing it in our nursery we discovered its amazing merits as a screening plant. Parvifolia grows very dense and twiggy—yet with great rapidity. It branches right down to the ground and plants a year after planting resemble a boxwood of 10 years growth! Parvifolia means "Tiny Leaved." The small leaves are very dense and almost as dark green as the leaves of Yucca. Parvifolia is not subject to any insect pests and is free from all diseases. It is exceptionally clean and litter-free. It is certainly not fussy as to soil and grows with uniform vigor under a variety of conditions. While it will tolerate some shade, it thrives best in the open. Parvifolia may be clipped to form a low hedge but it is in its full glory as a living screen of 5 or 6 feet. Its light twigs are easily sheared and the screen can be maintained at any desired dimension.

Very Rapid Growth—Parvifolia is now one of the plants that has an appreciable supply of plants. Ours is none too abundant. If you want a luxurious screen for a walk about your home grounds order enough plants now.

Chinese HYBRID LILAC

Best of the lilacs for early bloom, ease of culture and lovely, fragrant clear lilac flowers. Many lilacs, you know, take years and years to flower. Chinese Hybrid blooms very first year and abundantly thereafter. Modest in size, too, reaching only 6 or 8 feet. Slender stems are simply loaded with trusses of deliciously scented flowers in May. We have a hedge of this variety that has been a neighborhood delight for 25 years, attesting to the hardiness, durability and perennial beauty of the plant.

WHITE BIRCH

The beautiful Paperback (or Canoe) Birch. Most handsome of ornamental trees. A year-round charmer—luxuriant, shimmering foliage through spring and summer turning a torch-like brilliant yellow in autumn. Grows with great rapidity even in poor, dry rocky or clay soils and outer bark soon exfoliates to reveal snowy-white under bark marked with finely-etched black lines.

THE EXOTIC

TREE PEONY

(Paeonia moutan)

A garden treasure so rare it is found in only a few outstanding American gardens. Yet the lovely Tree Peony is completely hardy and does well in most sunny locations with a minimum of care. Once established, the Tree Peony lives to an ancient age, increasing in size and abundance of bloom year by year. And what flowers! Big, double blooms up to 6" across. Older plants bear as many as 200 blooms per plant. Petals have the gleam of oriental silk and a clarity unrivaled in lesser peonies. Delightfully perfumed.

Plants gradually grow to fine bushes 3 to 4 ft. high and broad, as they do not die down to the ground each winter as ordinary peonies. Do not cut back woody branches.

Tree Peonies have been acclaimed the most beautiful plants ever to bloom in a garden. They certainly deserve an honored spot in your garden where they may develop into their full glory. Plant singly or in groups of three.

You get 2-year field-grown grafts of finest imported quality
